Students of Elizabeth Public Schools Help Light Up the Mall for Heart Health

On February 4, 2012, the Jersey Gardens Mall displayed 564 small model homes created by students of Robert Morris School No. 18. The decorated houses represent the 564 homes that the Mall's solar array could power.

The "Lighting up the Mall" celebration was also aimed at generating awareness of the annual American Heart Association's Go Red for Women campaign. Jersey Gardens Mall donated one dollar for every home built to the American Heart Association.

Mall shoppers were encouraged to wear red and to take advantage of information and free health screenings provided by Trinitas Hospital.

Board members Paul Pereira and Armando Da Silva; former Board member Tony Monteiro; Principal Melissa Leite; and physical education teachers John Parello and Lucia Seitzinger joined teachers, parents, and students in this great cause.

School No. 14 Takes A Walk On The Healthy Side

Watch out for that "BIG" group of students walking down the halls of Abraham Lincoln School No. 14. One of the most exciting activities Healthier Alliance started is "The Walking Club." Physical Education teachers have developed a walking and jogging course in the gym. Ms. Jessica Sofranko, the co-chairperson for the Healthier Alliance, created the schedule to allow time for each class to participate. Each time the group walks around the cones in the gym, they walk between 1 and 1 1/2 miles.

Gym Teacher Mrs. Regina Smith stated, "Walking is a great way to start your day. It is a nice way for the students and team members to get to know each other. I have received positive feedback from both the students and staff."

School No. 14 is in its third year of its commitment to the Alliance for a Healthier Generation. The Alliance works to address one of our nation's leading health threats, childhood obesity.

The School Wellness Council would like to give a special thanks to Principal Cunha and Vice Principal Badalis for providing their support and time for the Walking Club.

Fourth Graders Start Their Day Right!

Mrs. Gasper's & Mrs. Lorenzo's 4th grade Reading Classes from Victor Mravlag School No. 21 and William F. Halloran School No. 22 created book report projects on cereal boxes and then "sold" their product in a commercial.

"Wizard Wands Cereal" captured the excitement and mystery of Harry Potter, while "Shelilios" gave a taste of Judy Blume's, Otherwise Known as Shelia the Great. Students were very creative in "marketing" their books.

Ahoy There!

Ahoy there! Students in Phyllis Taub's fifth grade class at Madison Monroe School No. 16 were in full pirate mode as they turned ordinary pennies into pirate gold. Was it alchemy? No! It was a foray into discovering chemical mixtures. This particular mixture combines kosher salt and vinegar. Put the two together and faster than a pirate can swab the deck a rusty penny can be cleaned to shine like pirate gold.

The Mateys in Room Six discovered the chemical abbreviations for salt and vinegar on their pirate journey. The Mateys also kept a ship's log—or rather, a lab report—detailing the events of their experiment. Pirate aficionados can read more about the Mateys' endeavor in their latest published work, Pirate's Gold.

Once Upon a Timeline

Learning about the History of the World is an exciting and complex process. Students in Mrs. Sanchez's 8th grade science class at Dr. Antonia Pantoja School No. 27, not only had an opportunity to learn about Earth History, but they also created a personal timeline to compare the two. This was an opportunity for students to work with their family members and study Earth History together while reliving important milestones in their lives that have prepared them for graduation in June.

National Wear Red Day

On February 3, Elizabeth High School celebrated National Wear Red Day®. Students and team members wore red to show their support for Women's Heart Health. As a school committed to excellent education, Elizabeth High School wants to educate others by sharing the message of maintaining "heart healthy."

GO GIANTS

Students at Robert Morris School No. 18 are proud of their favorite sports team! On February 3, the Robert Morris Student Council sponsored their first Jersey Day fundraiser. Students had the opportunity to donate one dollar so that they could wear their favorite team's jersey over their school uniform. With over half of the students participating, the fundraiser was able to net a significant contribution, with all monies benefitting Middle School graduation activities.

Not surprisingly, the most popular jersey worn was the Super Bowl Champions New York Giants!

"Soup-er Bowl"

Students at Victor Mravlag School No. 21 and William F. Halloran School No. 22 sponsored a school spirit day in celebration of Super Bowl Sunday called "Soup-er Bowl".

Peer Leadership Program Presents Interactive Program on Trust

Terence C. Reilly School No. 7 third grade science students in Miss Rodriguez' Peer Leadership program, presented their original twenty minute mini-lessons to students. Focusing on the themes of the second marking period, "Trust and Respect," students collaborated to create thoughtful and impactful presentations. Students showcased their communication skills by interacting with class members in the fourth, seventh and eighth grades.

Part of the experience was to see how students develop the confidence to step out in front of the class and exhibit poise and control to lead a discussion. Through this experience, leaders emerged.

"It has been quite the journey at Reilly with our Peer Leaders! A journey filled with much self-discovery, learning, leadership and a love for bettering our community as a whole." commented Miss Rodriguez.

A Visit to Liberty Hall Museum

Elmora School No. 12's seventh grade students had the opportunity to travel back in time to the early days of colonial New Jersey. Social Studies teachers Ms. Dorta and Mr. Price took their students to Liberty Hall Museum on January 26, to experience From Crown to Country, a special program presented by Liberty Hall. The Museum allowed students to learn about the area they live in and its unique role in the Revolutionary War. Students participated in a musket drill, explored the Liberty Hall's first two floors which included a room in which Mrs. Washington slept and learned about the ghost of Hannah Caldwell. They viewed maps from all different time periods and even had the opportunity to sign an oath to King George III, the colonies, or pledge for peace with the Quakers using a quill pen and ink.

Students were excited to view so many of the things they had learned about the Revolution. They made connections and discovered the vital role that New Jersey played during the formative years of the United States. It was a wonderful way to history.

Using Technology.... "Flipping" Classes

Mr. Louis Sobo, History teacher at Elizabeth High School Upper Academy, is "flipping" his classes. From February 6th - February 17th, students will actually view his lectures before they come to class and use traditional class time to work on assignments that students would normally do at home. Classwork becomes homework and homework becomes classwork. Traditional classroom routines are flipped.

Mr. Sobo video recorded his lectures relevant to the curriculum and posted them on You Tube. Students access lectures, utilizing their personal mobile devices and through Internet access, both from home and on the go. When students come to class, Mr. Sobo is available to personalize the instruction and facilitate the completion of student assignments.

Kyla Flores, a student in Mr. Sobo's 2nd period US history class, says the method helps her with key concepts because she can go back and replay the lectures again and again.

Christian Villa claims that his time is used more efficiently because he can watch the lectures on his way to jazz concerts and extra-curricular activities.

Mr. Sobo is hoping to delve deeper into the big concepts in his class because of his ability to devise more rigorous tasks that ask higher level questions. For example, the 6 assignments that go with the lecture series require students to create a one act play, analyze primary sources, and interpret art from the historical period that students are studying. The teacher is more available to answer student questions and assist in the completion of student work. His time lecturing is reduced by 80% freeing him to offer more direct feedback to students. He describes it as a win-win for students and teachers with overwhelming support from his six classes of US History I.

Librarian Visits School No. 13

A Science Challenge

Ms. Ann Branfman's 5th grade Science classes, at Elmora School No. 12, really stepped up to the challenge when asked to create volcanoes, caves, and sinkholes for a project during their unit on Landforms. Sugar, water, and sand caused sinkholes to sink; baking soda and vinegar caused volcanoes to overflow; and Elmer's glue, food coloring and Play-Doh were combined to resemble lava. A report and presentation to their classmates accompanied the assignment.

Overheard in the hallway, as classes passed were, "Wow, look at that!" "Cool," "Did you see the cave?" and "It looks so real." Ms. Branfman and her students were excited and proud of the creativity and work that went into making these projects.

Students Reflect on Personal Responsibility

On January 13, students at Terence C. Reilly School No. 7 participated in "Blame Someone Else Day" by reflecting on the importance of taking full responsibility for their actions and understanding how each decision they make has a profound impact on their lives and on the lives of others.

Organized by eighth grade history teacher Ms. Bodek, with assistance from guidance counselor Ms. Morrissey, students wrote about a time when they blamed someone else, how that person may have felt. They then considered a better way they could have handled the situation. Students were asked to think about how a shift in responsibility can empower them to develop the characteristics of good citizens and become role models for others.

Eighth grade student Steven Velez commented, "This project made me realize that my actions can hurt other people if I do not take full responsibility for them."

Ms. Bodek added, "It is important that children and adults alike remain reflective about the choices they make; change and growth can derive from accepting responsibility."

Identification Through Bloom's Taxonomy

Students at Dr. Antonia Pantoja School No. 27 were challenged to higher level thinking using Bloom's Taxonomy. Using critical thinking skills, including knowledge, comprehension, application, analysis, synthesis, and evaluation, students hypothesized about the identities of teachers and administrators using higher level questioning skills. Students in grades five through eight were abuzz using all six levels of the cognitive process and were able to guess the identity of team members in the building. A huge thank you goes out to Art Teacher Mr. Fajardo and the students for their authentic portrayal of teachers and administrators.

Kindergarten in February

The New Jersey Devils Rewards Elizabeth Public Schools' Honor Roll Students with Hockey Tickets'

The New Jersey Devils Honor Roll Program, now in its second year with the Elizabeth Public Schools, rewarded 356 of Elizabeth's highest achieving eleventh and twelfth graders with vouchers for two tickets to a New Jersey Devils home game. The selected students all placed on the district's Superintendent's Honor Roll or the Principal's Honor Roll for their outstanding academic performance in the first marking period.

This reward was made possible through the New Jersey Devils Student Honor Roll Program. The program rewards local students for their academic excellence by providing them redeemable vouchers for New Jersey Devils tickets. The vouchers entitle the student and a guest to attend one of three home ice professional hockey games at the Prudential Center in Newark.
