HISPA Inspires Students to Achieve

On February 12, the 7th Grade class at Christopher Columbus School No. 15 had the opportunity to meet with and listen to the inspirational stories of Mr. Carlos Gomez and Mr. Steve Cox. Both speakers are members of the HISPA Program, Hispanics Inspiring Students' Performance and Achievement. Gomez and Cox, along with the many other members of the organization, volunteer their time to speak to children to inspire them to strive to succeed academically. The hope of the organization is that students will see that there is a future for them after middle and high school, and the opportunity to attend college and be successful can be much more than a dream. The HISPA speakers tell of their family origins, cultures, and struggles they may have encountered throughout their lives. Their words are an inspiration to students. Additional HISPA speakers are scheduled to visit throughout the year.

John Marshall Students Learn the Dangers of Social Media

On January 29, John Marshall School No. 20 seventh and eighth grade students and team members welcomed Sergeant Rich to their school. During Sgt. Rich's presentation, he made students aware of the reality of exposing too much information without any restrictions. The instant information that goes out on the internet can be damaging or make the students victims. He showed students how with just their accounts from Facebook, twitter, kik, Instagram, snapchat, minecraft, and askfm their location could be accessed with the gps tracker from the app. Students all agreed it was a real "eye opener". He showed students that they don't have to remove themselves from social media, or isolate themselves from the world; they just have to know their limits and be cautious with their personal information.

Team Building And Social Skills

Throughout the year, iPrep Academy School No. 8 students, the Spartans, work on team building and improving their social skills. Two of the skills they have recently worked on were patience and respect. The student who recently demonstrated the most respect was Aleika Martinez, while Mia Bartolo demonstrated the most patience. ## Einstein Students Make a Virtual Visit to Ghana Africa

Middle school students from Dr. Albert Einstein Academy School No. 29 opened up dialogue with students from the Mate Masie School in Ghana, Africa with the help of Newark based non-profit, O'ia-da International Inc. The mission was to teach today's youth a lesson in cultural sensitivity through a fun, real-world exchange between kids of similar age, interests, and dreams.

A real time connection via tele-presence hardware enabled students to share conversation and information. Students from the Masie School shared PowerPoint presentations about some of the many facets of daily life and culture in West Africa. Einstein students Yvonne Wiafe and Tiffany Boetang held a conversation in the native Twi language. Students from both countries shared information about popular culture including sports, music and dance.

Students learned that people halfway around the world are not all that different than themselves and respect should be given to people from all walks of life.

The second graders of room #232 guessed the closest to the total of 2,363 jelly beans!

The celebration also included an assembly held on February 6, Reagan’s birthday. ## Coming to America

Who traveled the farthest to be in Mrs. Taub's fifth grade class at Madison Monroe School No. 16? The answer would have to be Malik Shabaz. Malik was born in Pakistan. As part of the unit on immigration, Malik invited his mother to class to speak about the reasons for the family's decision to immigrate to the United States. Having been a teacher in Pakistan, Mrs. Baz felt right at home in the classroom. She showed the class how to write the alphabet in Urdu. The students were interested to find Urdu is written from right to left. The students sat with rapt attention as they learned about the economy and politics of their classmate's native country. Students also relate the stories to their own lives or to other books they have read which allows for creative writing. The Kindergarten and First Grade students were excited as they listened to Mrs. De Peralta read Beauty and the Beast. With the help of ESL teacher Mrs. Melachrinis, students in Mrs. Branco's first grade bilingual classroom, at Dr. Albert Einstein Academy School No. 29 are learning about the life cycle of a plant. Mrs. Melachrinis chose basil for their project because most of the children in the class were unfamiliar with the herb. Students began the project by planting the seeds (which were supplied by ESL teacher Mrs. Melachrinis, and the Einstein Academy Greenhouse). Students are creating a book to help keep track of each phase in the plant life cycle. The students also loved learning unique information about the herb, including how many leaves need to sprout before it produces its signature smell. Teachers and students are currently creating planters from recycled water bottles that they can use to bring their basil home, to hopefully continue to grow and use in their cooking.

The students experienced various poetry styles which included subjects ranging from Dr. Seuss to everyday rumors, from having a crush on a peer to environmental issues, and from Maya Angelou to The Simpsons. Students were accompanied by AVID Teacher Ms. Flemm and AVID counselor Ms. Uniacke. In class AVID activities will incorporate the poetry techniques the students experienced to help them to create their own poetry and lyrical style.

SkillsUSA Community Service Projects

The SkillsUSA Champions at Work, Elizabeth Chapter of the Thomas Edison Career & Technical Academy, recently conducted two community service projects.

CONCERNING THE ALARMING INTRUSION OF UNIDENTIFIED SPECIAL INTEREST “SUPER PAC” MONEY INTO LOCAL ELECTIONS

WHEREAS, the electorate of this state, and the City of Elizabeth are best served by full transparency of campaign contributions so that the public can gauge the sources and quantity of financial support received by candidates for the Board of Education; and

WHEREAS, New Jersey’s system of public elections has long required the identification of all contributors of more than $300, through detailed reporting requirements established through the state Election Law Enforcement Commission; and

WHEREAS, since the 2010 United States Supreme Court decision in Citizen’s United allowed corporations and labor unions to spend unlimited funds on direct advocacy for and against candidates; and

WHEREAS, these expenditures of funds directly undercuts New Jersey’s system of requiring candidate accountability and public transparency, providing spending limits that limit the influence of special interests in local campaigns through organizations known as super Political Action Committees, or “Super PAC’s”; and

WHEREAS, without regulation or transparency, political figures can call upon special interests for whom they provide support on legislative initiatives to provide unlimited and unregulated funds to SUPER PACS in order to do their political bidding in a manner that directly undermines pay to play laws and is a fraud on the electorate; and

WHEREAS, the USA Today newspaper recently illustrated this point in an article entitled “Big Money Targets Small Races,” by describing such a situation in the 2013 Elizabeth Board of Education election wherein the “Committee for Economic Growth and Social Justice,” an innocuously named SUPER PAC based in Washington, DC spent more than $150,000 to influence the race; and

WHEREAS, the article pointed out that the SUPER PAC in question was heavily financed by the bail bond, legal and online gambling industries, all industries affected by the legislative initiatives of Senator Raymond Lesniak, who openly admitted that the SUPER PAC, which is run by his former campaign consultant, would again be using special interest money this year to influence the Elizabeth Board of Education election; and

WHEREAS, the intrusion of outside interests into the electoral process in Elizabeth and elsewhere subverts the electoral system and undermines democracy by permitting special interests to essentially pay elected officials for their legislative positions without any disclosure requirements, a direct affront to the many laws and regulations in New Jersey and at the Elizabeth Board of Education that attempt to curb political corruption.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Elizabeth Board of Education decries the intrusion of outside influences into local races carefully controlled to avoid pay-to-play and corrupting influences.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Elizabeth Board of Education hereby Petitions its United States Senators, Bob Menendez and Cory Booker, to support and encourage federal legislation, such as the DISCLOSE ACT, and even a Constitutional Amendment, if necessary, which would curb the ability of corporations, industry groups and labor unions from secretly providing unlimited funds to candidates through SUPER PACS without broad and specific disclosure of the source and amount of funds as well as a comprehensive system of criminal and civil enforcement designed to prevent donations to these entities in exchange for legislative favors.
