French Students Publish on Class Wiki

Terence C. Reilly School No. 7 students studying French with Mr. Soulouque have a new place to display their knowledge and self-expression: the class wiki. As a French teacher, it is a resource for my students to build their vocabulary for fluency, grammar structure, culture awareness and civilization around the Francophonie world,” posted Mr. Soulouque.

“Having my work published is a real privilege for me because it’s really rare for a student’s work to get published, let alone on a website. The poem I wrote in French was an acrostic poem, which was based on healthy foods,” commented sixth grade student Stephany Aristizabal.

Seventh grade student Pablo Torres added to the enthusiasm, “There are many interesting and cool things on this website. First of all, it shows the great work of many students throughout each grade. It has many factual and interesting videos. Mr. Soulouque’s wiki is the place you would want to go to experience new ideas in French.” You can visit the wiki at www.mrsoulouque.wikispaces.com.

College Bound

Juan Pablo Duarte-José Julián Martí School No. 28’s AVID students had the opportunity to visit several universities including Rutgers University, New Jersey City University and Union County College. The fifth grade students were intrigued to know more about the program. After the power point presentation, time was allowed for questions and answers. Students were curious to know how this program would help them. Eighth grade AVID student and School Vice President Na’Quasha Penn shared, “When I don’t understand something in one of my classes, I can come to my AVID teacher Mr. Cetoute.

Then I am able to improve my grades because I understand my work.” Na’Quasha is referring to the tutoring sessions that take place in AVID, where students have the opportunity to present questions from all other content areas to receive extra support. AVID Site Coordinator Ms. LaFace reports, “Many of School No. 28’s AVID students feel the program is supporting their Academic development as well as their Social and Emotional Development. We are fortunate to be a part of this early implementation and planning process within the district. We look forward to cultivating and sharing in our students’ future success.”

Mr. Mingoia kicked off the celebration with reading "The Little Engine That Could." Reading Coach Mrs. Owsiany prepared an exciting PowerPoint and the children answered questions similar to the game show "Are You Smarter than a 5th Grader?" The children each made shakers and cheered with "Who's the best?" and "We're the best!" The whole group was so excited and motivated to achieve their very best! GO SCHOOL No. 6!

School No. 1 Is Going Green!!

George Washington School No. 1 is going green by implementing a school wide recycling program. Each classroom has a bin to recycle many types of paper. Glass, cans and plastic are also being collected. Younger children are being taught what goes in each bin while the older children assist with the collection of the recyclables.

Mrs. Perry's third graders Anyelina Sanchez, Maryoris Castillo and Christian Santos are seen here doing the right thing make George Washington School 1 green! We are making the world GREEN-- one class at a time!

Space Exploration

Like astronauts in training, middle school students, from Dr. Antonia Pantoja School No. 27's 21st Century Community Learning Center (CCLC) program, learned about living and working in space, the forces of flight, and investigating the prospects of other life in the universe.

While at The Buehler Challenger & Science Center, students used space exploration as a theme to learn about planetary science while fostering a long-term interest in science, math and technology. Simulations were used to ignite learning.

“Strengthen the Mind”

Students at Ronald Reagan Academy School No. 30 displayed their talents by presenting a show entitled “Strengthen the Mind”. After the flag salute and presentation by the Color Guard, student Altamese Williams performed “Exhale”, as a tribute to singer Whitney Houston which was followed by a “Salute to Our Heroes to Zion” by Lauren Hill. Kindergarten students in the After School Program danced to the song “His Eye on the Sparrow” by Lauren Hill. First grade students danced to several songs, including “Motown Philly”. Second grade students performed “The March to Zion”, and helped with the curtain decorations for the show. Third graders recited a poem by Langston Hughes, while students in the fourth grade danced to Michael Jackson’s “They Don’t Care About Us”. Dance performances were provided by fifth and seventh graders who danced to “Jump” and “The Jersey Slide”. Sixth graders paid tribute to singer Whitney Houston through poetry, as well as through dance.

One of many highlights of the show was a performance of “I Will Always Love You” by eighth graders Sahara Pagan and Genesis Guzman. The program concluded with performances by both the Jazz Band performing the “Sanford and Son” theme and the Early Elementary Choir performing “Razzamatazz.” The children performed in front of an appreciative audience of parents and classmates. The showcase was a wonderful success due to the hard work and dedication of students and teachers both on stage and behind the scenes!

School No. 7 Little Friends Reading Program Connects Students and Stories Across Grade Levels

Terence C. Reilly School No. 7 second grade students read stories to eighth grade students displaying their confidence, gift of storytelling and interest in developing new friendships.

Little Friends Reading Program organizer and school librarian Rebecca Buchan reflected on this inaugural event, “I was delighted to see the eighth graders giving the second graders compliments and suggestions to help with their writing. I believe all students felt they made a connection through this reading and writing program.”

“Instead of having eighth grade students read to the younger students, they read to us. In the time that Camila read to me, I learned so much about her and had a lot of fun. She is a smart girl and I could tell that from the vocabulary she used in her story,” commented eighth grade student Dayana Martinez.

It was also a chance for our older students to understand the special gifts our youngest students possess. Eighth grader Beren Delgado was enthusiastic, “I was surprised and impressed. I had a fun time being with the second grade students. They are way above my reading level when I was in second grade.”

Bienvenue à la Cirque du Soleil (Welcome to the Circus)

Ms. Rodriguez Freshman class at Alexander Hamilton Preparatory Academy went to the circus and never even left the classroom. Students viewed the Cirque du Soleil presentation of "Varekai". Cirque du Soleil is the famous French circus that originated in Montreal, Canada; it is unlike the American circus in that there are no animals, but there are plenty of clowns, magicians, acrobats, jugglers, dancers, aerialists, opera singers, dancers and musicians. Next, students also had a competition of cognates (words that are similar in French and English). Ms. Rodriguez is proud to share that her students created a list of 100 cognates in just one week. Afterwards, they saw a "behind the scenes" video and discussed job opportunities in the entertainment world. Her students wrote an essay about "What it takes to be the best in any field. Ms. Rodriguez, who grew up in a "show biz" family, once performed magic with the famous magician, David Copperfield. She was happy to share her stories. Finally, they had their own dress rehearsal and posed for this fabulous photo!

Students learned how the circus is a fun way to embrace multiculturalism, learn about job opportunities, the secrets of success, develop vocabulary skills and become "petits ambassadeurs" of the world. They learned that a smile and laughter are universal and help bring the world closer together.

Students Learn the Meaning of NASA Messages

A binary code is a system for encoding data made up of 0's and 1's. MP3, and DVD players, digital TV, cell phones, the Internet, and space probes, all represent data as strings of 0's and 1's rather than digits 0-9 and letters A-Z. Middle School students at Dr. Antonia Pantoja School No. 27 21st Century Community Learning Center (CCLC) program were able to use real NASA received messages to replicate an area of the moon to understand how NASA creates images of distant objects in space.

School 18's Leprechauns!!!

There are more than 34 million United States residents with Irish ancestry. This number is more than seven times the population of Ireland itself! As the Elizabeth Public School System recognizes and encourages cultural diversity, the food service team members at Robert Morris School No. 18 decided to dress up for Saint Patrick's Day in support of all our Irish-American friends. Top O' the Mornin' to all!

"The Lincoln Log" Showcases Student Professional Learning Community

Students often find that their best teachers can be their classmates. In an effort to help the students at Abraham Lincoln School No. 14 have opportunities to learn good work and study habits, the staff of "The Lincoln Log" the monthly school newspaper will be devoting a section of each issue to the development of a Student Professional Learning Community (SPLC). "I believe that our students will really benefit from seeing how other students are successful in their schoolwork" says Principal Cunha. The SPLC focuses on a good work habits that each student can work on. For the February edition of the newspaper, the focus was on "Double Entry Journals." Students from grades 3 through 8 use double entry journals to take notes during their daily read alouds in class. The entire student body was able to see how two students excel by keeping a neat and accurate double entry journal. Mrs. Navas, PACE Newspaper workshop teacher says "The students are very excited to be participating in an endeavor that team members throughout the Elizabeth Public School District also participate in to improve their teaching practices."

Ides of March

Did you happen to see students wearing togas fashioned from tablecloths, sheets, and blankets? They were fifth graders from Mrs. Phyllis Taub's class at Madison-Monroe School No. 16. What would March 15th be without an adaptation of Shakespeare's Julius Caesar presented by the Room Six Thespians!

Participation in the event required knowledge of important lines from the play. Students enjoyed writing about their favorite soliloquies and created text to self-connections. The special day concluded with a game of Roman Numeral Bingo.

Spring Festival

On March 23, Joseph Battin School No. 4 celebrated its second annual Spring Festival. Parents and students enjoyed meals from different countries and participated in activities where children had a chance to draw, paint, and express through art. They also participated in other games in the gym. Special thanks to Board member Elcy Castillo-Ospina, Parent Liaison Gina Cortico and Sonia Martinez for making this event a success!

Teambuilding at School No. 3

Team members from Nicholas S. LaCorte Peterstown School No. 3 participated in a hands-on team building session led by presenter Dr. Edward Albert. Teachers, classroom assistants, custodians, security guards, and substitute teachers, all gathered and began with an introductory activity. Then, team members formed four teams. The task was to use file folders to build the tallest structure. This activity allowed for team members to plan out and build their structure together. An important factor in building this structure was to create a strong base on which the structure will stand.

Team members completed other group activities, answered reflection questions and presented their findings to the other groups. As a special surprise, music teacher Mr. Troiano, led team members in a song titled, "We are the Staff". The lyrics were set to the music of "We are the World".

A Dinosaur Project

As part of the Project Approach Piloting Program, George Washington School No. 1 recently worked on a project focused on dinosaurs. Students were intrigued with how dinosaurs hatched from eggs.

After researching, students learned that today's birds, especially chickens, are considered modern dinosaurs because they share many of the same characteristics and features. Students were fascinated as they watched a short video of a chick hatching. The children witnessed two out of the three chicks as they hatched during school hours and were able to visually compare their characteristics with that of the dinosaurs. PK-101 will miss the chicks as they are going to a new home on a farm! The dinosaur they made will live at School No. 1!

Elizabeth High School Competes at New Jersey's Destination Imagination

On March 31, eight teams from Elizabeth High School competed in the New Jersey Destination Imagination state finals. Of those eight teams, four of them earned either a first or second place finish or an invitation to Global Finals in Knoxville, Tennessee.

The first team to win consisted entirely of freshmen. Led by captain Sergio Robayo, Bruno Borges, Desiree Mactado, Omar Mahfouz, Antonio Brito, Destiny Wilson, and Hector Grade built a home-made vehicle that traveled across a gym floor delivering products from one place to another. Their ingenious telescoping cannon system wowed the judges as well. For their efforts, they earned a first place finish.

The next team to place consisted of Captain Rahyan Mahmoud, Florencia Curbelo, Auraniza Monsalve, Chanel Arenciba, Ahmed Nagy, Jayana Torres, and Cristian Villa. Their challenge was an improvisational challenge where the team had to take a news story with which they were familiar, and connect it, through a cause and effect relationship to another news story given to them four minutes before their performance. Then, another bizarre “glitch” was thrown at the team. They had to combine all of those elements and produce an improvised skit. For this team’s fast-on-their feet thinking, about melting snowmen on their way to Norway to watch bad soccer games, they earned a second place finish.

Captain Cecile Requite along with Michelle Umana, Sade Chico, Pam Castillo, Harold Ramirez, and Sirena Soto won a first place victory in a challenge asking them to use different lighting techniques in pitch blackness to demonstrate the principles of solar energy. This they did with a creative and fun story about a crime-ridden city saved by an unusual application of solar power. Riding the manic energy of Cecile’s crazed newscaster, Michelle’s hilarious interpretation of an energized cop, and Pam Castillo’s singing voice, this team beat all-comers and earned their invitation to Global Finals.

Finally, Captain Sabrina Olivera along with Luisa Goytia, Samra Sejmenovic, Gianella Lainez, David Mera, Aixa Narvaez, and Jharlene Iglesias dominated a challenge where they were asked to build a wooden and glue structure 7.5 inches high that weighed only 25 grams, or 1/20 of a pound and then see how much weight it would hold. This structure had to fit around a 2” pipe and hold golf balls launched into it from across a 10” space. Beyond that, the team had to create an original script about a “captivator” that related to the action going on near the wooden structure. Amazingly, while a creative show went on in the background, the structure that team members Sabrina Olivera and Luisa Goytia built was easily holding up 285 lbs of free-weights when the 8-minute time expired. That impressive performance was good for first place in their category.

These four teams, all operating against an 8-minute clock and small budget all earned their invitations to Global Finals in Tennessee where they hope to compete and win against Destination Imagination teams from around the country and the world.

π DAY at Madison-Monroe School

Relationships are important, that is why Mrs. Frayman's fifth grade students at Madison-Monroe School No. 16 explored the relationship of the circumference of a circle to its diameter and found pi, an irrational number; it never ends and does not repeat.

Students worked together to measure the circumference and the diameter of various cylinders to the nearest half centimeter. The data was recorded; students used calculators to divide the circumference by the diameter and round the quotient to the nearest hundredth. They analyzed the quotients to identify any patterns. Amazingly, the quotients had a value of about 3. Students discovered the ratio of circumference to the diameter of any circle is always about 3 or more accurately, 3.1415926535897932384626433832795028841971693993751058209749445923078164062862089986280348253421170679821480865132823066470938446095505822317253594081284811174502841027...

Rutgers University Dance Works visits Hamilton Academy

Students of the Alexander Hamilton Preparatory Academy's dance class had a special visit by Rutgers University Dance Works (UDW), the touring dance company of the Department of Dance at Mason Gross School of the Arts at Rutgers University. Dancers brought a program to the school that demonstrated Modern Dance and dance from diverse cultures. Dancers also spoke to students about dance as a career. The repertory featured the works of critically acclaimed guest artists, faculty and students from the school. Seniors also participated in a master dance class taught by Keith Thompson, co-director of UDW and Rutgers University dance faculty member.

"I am glad that students had this opportunity with UDW. Students were exposed to modern dance and learned about university dance programs as possible programs of study. They were also inspired to continue their hard work in my class," commented Hamilton's dance teacher, Ms. Camp-Colon.
