HEALTHY LEAP INTO SUMMER 2013

On May 30, 2013, Elizabeth Public Schools held its sixth annual Healthy Leap into Summer health expo in collaboration with organizers Gateway Regional Chamber of Commerce President, James R. Coyle and Trinitas Regional Medical Center Vice President of Clinical Services, Nancy DiLiegro, PhD. The health expo, which is the largest teen obesity awareness program in the U.S., according to the United States Department of Health and Human Services, took place in the Dunn Sports Center at 151 Pearl Street, in Elizabeth.

The one day program is designed to promote healthy lifestyles to high school students while addressing the epidemic of teen obesity. Childhood obesity has grown considerably in recent years, with 16 to 33 percent of children and adolescents now considered obese. The annual Healthy Leap event provides Elizabeth Public Schools' high school students the tools they need to combat teen obesity and live more health conscious lives.

Over 2000 students from the district's six high schools participated in workshops, received health screenings, viewed food demonstrations, and had the opportunity to learn from interactive exhibits provided by organizations from Elizabeth and the surrounding community. Popular exhibits included Zumba Fitness; Nutrition Labels & Fast Food; Massage Therapy, and the Army interactive activities.

The expo concluded with a rally including guest speakers, performers, and contests for students. Competition winners of healthy poster, dance and public service announcement contests each received $500 scholarships.

Students also earned tickets from various exhibits and workshops which they entered to win an iPad provided by the Gateway Chamber of Commerce.

American recording artist, song writer, and producer Charlie Vox, of the band Random Act of Charlie, once again entertained students at the rally with her single, You Should Let Me Love You. She also shared with students her personal struggle in achieving and maintaining a healthy weight. Vox challenged students to get up, get moving and get healthy.

Board of Education President Tony Monteiro, board members Charlene Bathelus and Francisco González, and Superintendent Pablo Muñoz, were on hand to urge students to “take a healthy leap.” Mr. Monteiro commented, “The time and effort of the sponsors, exhibitors, and speakers in providing vital health information to our teens has made a lasting impact on our students’ quality of life.”

Superintendent of Schools Pablo Muñoz said, “I am grateful to the sponsors of this annual event for providing our students this tremendous opportunity to gain knowledge in the area of preventive healthcare from such a diverse and committed group of community members.”

The health expo was sponsored by: Gateway Regional Chamber of Commerce, Trinitas Regional Medical Center, United States Office of Health & Human Services, United States Army, AmeriHealth New Jersey, Overlook Medical Center, Northfield Bank, and Prescription Corporation of America.

2012 – 2013 Teacher of the Year, Mrs. Pedrayes

As a culmination of American Education Week, students from Terence C. Reilly School No. 7 filled the auditorium to recognize the work of the educators and staff who fill their days with the excitement of learning. To thunderous cheers, sixth grade social studies teacher Michele Pedrayes was announced as Teacher of the Year. Principal Cedeño commented on this important accolade, “Mrs. Pedrayes inspires our students and staff to think, learn, achieve and care daily. Her dedication to the profession is remarkable. Her leadership ability, collaboration and professional attitude are unmatched. It is evident that she takes her responsibilities seriously, performs her duties with great initiative and is determined to be a catalyst for positive change in the school community and beyond.”

Mrs. Pedrayes’ sixth grade students also voiced their approval, “Amazing, thoughtful and kind. Her style of teaching is like her personality and motto, ‘fabulous!’” exclaimed student Tyrell Michuki.

Another student Elizabeth Palacios added, “Not only is she a great history teacher, but she is also a beautiful dancer. Being in her ballet class, I know how passionate she is toward dance. Having her as a teacher is simply an honor,” shared.

Learning From Our Buddies at the Turtle Back Zoo

On May 20, the Kindergarten and eighth grade classes of Elmora School No. 12 went on an educational field trip to the Turtle Back Zoo. In addition to learning about the many eagles and wolves, the students participated in collaborative activities that taught them the importance of trusting each other and the value of working together. One of the most popular activities included the touch tank, where the 8th grade students were shown how to pet the miniature sharks.

The 8th grade students then instructed their kindergarten buddy on the proper way to interact with the sea animals. The students did such a great job at the touch tank, that the Turtle Back Zoo staff members invited the kindergarten and eighth grade students to feed the baby stingrays.

Recycling at Madison-Monroe School No. 16

As a closure to the Science Module, the creation of a seeded recycled bookmark was executed. With the use of paper that is being recycled in the classroom every day, students made more paper. First students began soaking the old paper in water, liquefying it and using metal screens to separate the mixture. The new pieces of paper were dried with a towel and left overnight for the water to evaporate. Seeds and cinnamon were placed into the mixture before the paper was crushed in the blender. The purpose for adding these elements was to give the paper different texture, fragrance and to be able to reuse the bookmark by planting it and have it grow flowers.

Children had a blast making the new type of paper with his hands placed inside the mixture. They also like the idea that the bookmark can be a Mother's day present and that they are able to watch them grow into a plant or flower!

Lower Academy Students Excel on National Latin Exam

By: Santiago Rincon (9th Grade Student)

Students of Latin I at Elizabeth High School's Lower Academy have learned by virtue of their hard work on the National Latin Exam the true meaning of the motto ad astra per aspera (to the stars with difficulty). A record number of 63 students received an award, of the 154 students who took the test.

"I am pleased that 18 students received outstanding awards and 45 students received achievement awards. Also, an additional 18 students missed receiving an award by only one answer!" said Latin teacher Concepcion Fernandez-Vilaseca.

Appropriately enough, the students took the exam on the 2,057th anniversary of the most famous date in Roman history – March 15, 2013, the Ides of March.

"The National Latin Exam was very difficult, but I'm sure everyone appreciates the hard work and dedication Mrs. Fernandez has put in all year. That made the test seem less stressful", said student Briana Velasquez.

These students have proven that "labor vincit omnia" (work conquers all).

The children also created an invitation for a beloved family member to visit their classroom so they can participate in the learning experience.

In collaboration with the Math and Science Professional Learning Community, the children enjoyed a hands-on learning scientific exhibition. At the Science Fair, the children displayed scientific projects created in the classroom in which they worked diligently. In addition to all of these motivating activities, the children learned how to care for our planet now and for future generations. Mrs. Feliciano explained that it did have arms but they were not visible in the picture. Mrs. Feliciano then asked the student if not having arms would matter at all and the student seemed puzzled. Mrs. Feliciano and Mrs. Nuñez explained that there are people that do not have arms and live normal lives as if they had both arms. Mrs. Feliciano researched on the internet and showed the students videos of people without arms that achieved professional careers like Iranian artists Zohreh Etezad Saltaneh, Brazilian artist Marcos Santos, and FAA-Certified pilot and motivational speaker Jessica Cox. ## Promoting Healthy Eating at Ronald Reagan Academy

Ronald Reagan Academy School No. 30 had an exceptional year running The Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Program of 2012/2013. This year's success included providing Spanish-speaking families translated brochures, pamphlets and sheets that explained the mission of this program, and what Ronald Reagan Academy was doing to promote better eating choices.

By doing this, Ronald Reagan Academy reached out to both English and Spanish speaking parents to encourage them and their children to make healthier food choices both at school and at home. Additionally, the students completed surveys that provided information about the kinds of fruit and vegetables they ate throughout the year. This information enabled Ronald Reagan Academy to introduce a variety of new healthy foods, and still cater to the tastes of its students. Parent Liaison Mr. Rodrigo Gauldron conducted the survey. By voting, students indicated that they enjoyed the fruit of the day, and would enjoy having it again. In teaming together with parents, teachers and students, Ronald Reagan Academy hopes to bring the best eating practices to all of its students.
